Chatham's Changed Shoreline

DCJ

For nearly one hundred years, nature smiled on Chatham. That town on the outer elbow of Cape Cod has enjoyed the status of a protected anchorage on the shore of a saltwater pond. Then, last year, the sand bar that runs from Orleans to Monomoy broke under the force of a Winter storm and changed the picture drastically.

Ruined cottage is victim of the open sea and is now removed.

The photo on our cover was taken one year ago at the town beach at Chatham. The cottage at top left can be seen as well back from the beach behind a small dune. Even considering that photos do exaggerate distance, this cottage was well removed from the shore front which, at that time, was lapped by the gentlest of tides. With the bar now broken, all is changed. Now, at the mercy of the force of the open Atlantic, the beach, many yards of it, has disappeared. Along with it went the protecting dune and much of the town beach. The photo at top of page 2 shows the same cottage and the one next to it. It was taken at the same time as the cover and shows both well removed from the shore. That cottage is the one that was featured in the news last week and shown in the larger photo taken last January 24th. This home was totally destroyed by the wave action and has now been demolished. On that weekend, people from all over New England poured into Chatham to have a look at the changing beach scene. The bar break has, in a single month, opened noticeably, and the sand displaced has formed islands in the center of what was the inlet. Cottage owners, opposite the break, have placed boulders in front of their property in an effort to stem the force of the sea which is now directly in front of the summer homes. They seek to get permission from the authorities to build more substantial breakwaters to prevent further loss of land and property.

Dennis McCarthy, president of the Clean Water Committee, and Jessica Ribeiro, students in Robert Frates' 6th grade Social Studies class, presented the petition, which was read by Selectmen Chairman John N. DeCosta. They were accompanied by about 20 other students and parents.

The petition reads: "We, the people of this petition, in order to save our harbor so that the current and future residents of our town can swim without getting sick from the waste that is poured into the harbor every day. That is not all that we are concerned about. We are also concerned about all of the gasoline, oil and waste that comes from the boats that use the harbor. We think that this is the time to think about the damage that we are doing today and what effect this damage will have on the future of the harbor."

Danny McCarthy said they were concerned about the small boats putting wastes in the water and for the town trucks dumping snow with the sand and salt into the harbor.

Selectman Frank M. Suzan asked the two students, "Do we have laws on the books to cover this?" Danny replied, "Yes." Selectman William F. Hubbard said, "Yes we have laws but they are not always enforced. Perhaps we should have handouts given to boaters so they will be sure they don't put wastes in the harbor."

Selectman Suzan also commented that all snow, whether dumped in the water or drained into the harbor, gets into the water sooner or later. "We could have other problems if we don't get rid of all the snow on the streets." Selectman Hubbard added that the problem is trying to get rid of the salt in the sand which is used on the roads.

Danny McCarthy also said kids should be banned from letting off balloons because they drop in the water and fish swallow them thinking they are jellyfish and this kills the fish. "We would also like to see a ban on malls like those in Dartmouth", Danny said. "Mattapoisett is so scenic and we would like to see it stay

Selectman DeCosta said that we are fortunate in Mattapoisett with all the shellfish available. "You can get a family license and dig with your parents and get a lot of shellfish at much less cost than if you had to buy it."

Danny's father thanked Mr. Frates, a substitute teacher at Old Hammondtown, for sparking an interest in the students on this subject. Mr. Frates commented that the students were surprised at the number of parking places at the town beach and no place to put bikes. He asked if there is a capacity the beach will hold with cars and people. The Chairman explained the beach attendant directs the parking of cars and takes what it will handle; if more is needed they can park on the street. There is certainly enough beach area, DeCosta said.

A parent asked if the shellfish constable has summer help to catch people dumping sewage. Mr. Frates wanted to know if tickets have ever been given out for dumping. Selectmen said yes, the shellfish constable does have help and that they felt tickets would be given out if the act was observed.

Danny McCarthy also commented the cove and brush should be cleaned out so that mosquitoes did not breed. Selectman Hubbard informed the students that Plymouth County cleans out the brush and marshes, both by a handheld sprayer and by airplane dusting. "it's an ongoing project all year round", said Hubbard.

Priscilla Hathaway, an interested citizen, told how the state and others have worked on a study in the Buttermilk Bay area to dig trenches to filter out the problems before they arise.

Selectman Suzan told the students the town has transplanted oysters from the Mattapoisett River because the river is closed due to contamination that they've been trying to locate for a couple of years. Selectman Suzan said "we believe people are dumping washing machines, sewer and other contaminants in the river. It is a shame to lose a primary oyster bed." Chairman DeCosta urged the students to get the shellfish constable to speak on projects to clean up certain areas.

In other business, Selectmen:

MET WITH Water/Sewer Superintendent William Nicholson and Water Commissioners Donald C. Wood and Clifford Tripp, Jr. to discuss the issue of contaminants in the pipes on Eldorado Drive and Whaler's Way.

as we feel the facts have been misunderstood." One point, Nicholson said, is that the suspected carcinogen is called PCE and not TCE, which stands for tetrachloroethylene, a different chemical altogether.

The Superintendent said the problem began in 1980 when the Water Department first was alerted. A list of suspect areas was made and tested. At that time, Eldorado Drive had 40 parts per billion, and Whaler's Way 35 parts per billion. The allowable limit was 40 parts per billion; therefore, at that time, bleeders were installed on Eldorado Drive which would change the water once a day. Bleeders were also installed on Whaler's Way as a precaution even though the reading there was below the allowable limit. Since then the bleeders have been dropped on Whaler's Way.

Selectman Frank Suzan asked the superintendent if he has written confirmation that Whaler's Way dropped from 35 parts per billion. Nicholson said, "Yes, we do."

Nicholson said PCE is used as a solvent in the lining of pipes. Johns-Manville developed a pipe that was supposed to be better; unfortunately it was not better. PCE is organically volatile, that is chemically readily vaporised. It was put in some pipes at extra cost in the two streets (Eldorado Drive and Whaler's Way) which are low flow areas. He stressed the PCE is a finite part of the material.

The Superintendent explained he is not pro or con on the matter.

Bleeders were turned off and testing re-done. "We did not have to test according to the state because the streets registered below the state standards."

Selectman William F. Hubbard questioned Nicholson as to whether there are other streets in town that have the Johns-Manville pipes. Nicholson said, "Yes, there are three other streets, but no bleeders were installed because their readings were below the level."

In 1983, Nicholson said, the Town agreed to join a class action law suit against Johns-Manville. In 1984, the State Attorney General's office gave the Town permission to join the class action suit.

Nicholson said there is more involved in the cost of replacing the pipes than the cost of the pipes, as there is also the cost of preparing specifications, the bidding process, contracting for the digging and paving repair. He estimated $40. to $45. per foot based on verbal quotes from the engineers. He said he can get the costs in writing for those two streets, which he agreed to do, and keep the Selectmen informed. He added there is about 1800 feet in both streets, 1320 feet on Eldorado Drive, and 450 feet on Whaler's Way. He said anything over $4,000 has to go out to bid. He intends to check with Town Counsel to determine if he has to pay prevailing wages. The cost for 100 feet will be about $4,000, he said.

Nicholson said any new project with a hydrant has to have an eight inch water main pipe. It's not the pipe that's costly, but it's the digging. He recommended buying the pipe, then going out to bid for the digging. PCV pipe is used now and the cost is going up, so the suppliers won't quote prices ahead for more than one day.

Nicholson emphasized to the Board that he is just trying to be reasonable and he and the Water Commissioners are willing to help in any way they can. The state standards are still 40 parts per billion. The last test done by the department showed a 2.1 parts per billion on Whaler's Way and one part per billion on Eldorado Drive. He added that it would take 70 years of drinking two liters per day to reach 40 parts per billion in a person's system.

In conclusion, Nicholson said he would give Selectmen the written estimates as soon as he gets them from the engineers.

The Chief commented on a recent call during a snowstorm when it took 20 minutes to respond to a call because the volunteer firefighters had to shovel snow off their cars before they could respond. "I feel we should keep men at the station at these times to respond immediately to a call. We are opening ourselves up to problems if it takes too long to answer a call. The Chief said that Mattapoisett is lucky to have 14 to 16 volunteer firefighters available during the day. "Someday we may have to do something different. We are fortunate to have mutual aid with Fairhaven because when I hear 'working fire' on Brandt Island, I call for mutual aid as there is no water supply in the Brandt Island section."

The applicants propose construction of a 1½ story Cape Cod style single family residence of approximately 1800 square feet. MET WITH Jeanne Chadwick, representing the New Bedford Community Housing Resource Board, to implement equal housing support in the communities. The 16-member Board, which sees itself as a resource to surrounding communities, is comprised of bankers, realtors and interested citizens. Housing is a national issue because of the increased real estate costs. "Your children will be priced out of homes. You (in Mattapoisett) are now involved with Housing Partnerships." She asked Selectmen if the town has a fair housing plan. "We are not here to say you have to have one, but it is the spirit of working together to solve a problem to all of us."

Chairman DeCosta said "We do not have a fair housing plan other than that we have low income housing." He suggested she contact the Mattapoisett Housing Authority on housing issues.

The plan remains the same: a Selectman, Health Agent and Water Department employee will introduce interested townspeople to the several wells which supply Marion water, the methods used to treat and distribute the water throughout the town and continue on to the sewage treatment plant, the filter beds and final disposal of the effluent. Meeting: New Development

POSSIBLE BRANDT NECK DEVELOPMENT AIRED - JANUARY 28, 1988

by VIRGINIA MORGAN

About 70 concerned residents crowded into the Village Court conference room Thursday to hear members of the Growth Committee discuss the possible development of the Manuel R. Nunes, Jr. property on Brandt Neck and ways in which this knowledge can best be handled by the town.

Chairman Peter Kortright explained his committee learned through the "grapevine" of the large tract of land slated for sale and development on Brandt Neck, comprised of about 284 acres. This is a good case study even though, hypothetically, at this time, unless you know more than I do, I don't know if Mr. Nunes actually wants to sell the property, said Mr. Kortright. There is a long process of going through certain town boards for large developments.

Martha Peterson, sub-committee chairman on open space management, said because of the tax amounts of the Nunes' property under Chapter 61B, if it comes up for sale, Mr. Nunes has to notify the Selectmen and Selectmen have the right of refusal. The town has 120 days in which to come up with funds to buy the land. She noted there are several agencies in the state to assist in purchasing the land, such as the Audubon Society. The society only requests that a definite area be set aside for passive recreation, such as biking and hiking.

Mrs. Peterson said the reason she was concerned is because this.

is the last piece of land that size that will come up for sale in Mattapoisett. She recommended the town vote on a bond issue in conjunction with other funding agencies, then selling off about 30 acres to repay Mattapoisett's share of the cost. Two state officials have looked at the Nunes property with Mr. Nunes' permission and the state has placed the property on the state land management. Mattapoisett has five priority sites, one of which will be coming up soon. She urged townspeople to write to their legislators to voice their opinion on the use of the lands in Mattapoisett. The subject reference is: Coast Acquisition/Department of Environmental Management, Regarding: The Manuel R. Nunes Brandt Neck property.

Selectmen Chairman John N. DeCosta and Selectman William F. Hubbard were present and were invited to make either a formal or informal statement. Selectmen Frank Suzan had another meeting to attend. Chairman DeCosta said the Board has been talking to several developers, one from the Wellesley area, and five developers have been looking at the Nunes property, one local and four out-of-town developers. None has indicated their intentions on what they will build. "In fact, Mr. Nunes hasn't made up his mind whether to sell. I understand the asking price is around $10 million."

Mr. Kortright explained the state comprehensive permit in response to a question. All towns should seek to provide 10 percent of homes as affordable housing. Mattapoisett falls far short. To encourage communities to build affordable housing the state building laws say a developer may come up with plans for affordable housing and if a community says no, the developer can go to the state appeals board. Provisions say the state can give the developer funds to build and can give a developer a comprehensive permit which can, conceivably, override town building by-laws. As long as Mattapoisett is working towards this goal with its Affordable Housing Committee, a developer cannot appeal.

Vincent Worden, a Brandt Island area resident, asked if the owner wants $100,000 and it is assessed for $50,000, what is the amount the town would pay? Mr. Kortright said under public land taking the town takes three independent appraisals, then picks the average appraisal for the selling price. The owner has a right to refuse because it has to be a fair price.

A Brandt Island Road resident asked if this road was the only access to the Nunes property. The chairman said yes, but that it abuts the Fairhaven line. There is some talk of water and sewer coming from Fairhaven, he noted.

Water/Sewer Superintendent William Nicholson said he isn't familiar with what's happening in Fairhaven, but that Shaw Road could lead into the property. The Water Commissioners have been approached by the developer to extend the water and sewer lines to the area. No specific number of houses has been mentioned, he said. He said, "We need more information before committing ourselves to water and sewer." He stressed there would be NO cost to the town. Mention of a private package sewer treatment plant was dispelled by the superintendent saying the developer was not interested in that aspect and also that this system doesn't work well.

Donald C. Wood, Board of Health Agent, said septic systems could never be used there; the land doesn't perk well. It would have

QUESTION:

HOW DO EMPLOYEES & COMPANIES BENEFIT FROM CHIROPRACTIC SPINAL MANIPULATION?

ANSWER: With higher performance and more productivity.

When a worker is sidelined because of a health problem, everybody loses.

The company loses a valuable employee, which could mean a loss of production. The worker loses self-confidence in addition to suffering pain and disability. The family unit loses part of its income, so important to maintaining a standard of living. The union loses part of its health and welfare fund in payments and other benefits.

Obviously, there is no way of eliminating on-the-job and off-the-job injuries entirely. But it would be helpful and less costly for all if time for recuperation could be reduced.

Chiropractic can reduce time off. In fact, comparative studies of Workers' Compensation cases from a number of states prove chiropractic's effectiveness in getting injured employees on their feet faster.

Imagine the advantages of eliminating hospitalization. Being treated on an outpatient basis. Not being subjected to the hazards and expenses of drugs and surgery.

Here's what you can do:

- Get to know the chiropractic health method and its benefits.
- Make chiropractic services available to employees in any health and welfare or insurance program with which you are associated. Insist upon it.
- Recognize the importance of structural health. One of the best safeguards against illness and disease is to practice a program of health care which includes chiropractic spinal examinations.

Chiropractic health care makes sense—in terms of people and money.

to be sewered.

Joanna Duponte asked what is Mr. Nunes' interest? Where does he stand? Why doesn't someone ask him? Mr. Kortright said he understands Mr. Nunes is more concerned with what happens to the property than in the money. Chairman DeCosta advised anyone interested in Mr. Nunes' opinion to go to the town barn at 7 a.m. any weekday.

Mrs. Peterson said she didn't know the percentage of wetland in the Nunes property, but that under cluster zoning wetlands are considered open space. "We must get our act together," she stressed. Several towns have been sued because they put new by-laws into effect after a developer presented his plans. If 225 houses are built over a seven year period, what will be the impact on the schools, water, and police and fire. The town has to act quickly, Mrs. Peterson said.

She added that this open forum is necessary to get the information out to the public. There are other properties in town the town could have purchased; such as the Boardman property at Hollywoods. "We could have extended Aucoot Beach with that land but the town didn't want it."

Mr. Kortright explained the town has definite need for a town planner; that if a developer is going to spend $10 million to develop Brandt Neck, conceivably, he could assist the town in funding some of the costs; if sewer and water goes down Brandt Island this would open up the pos-

Many comments were made by residents who have lived in other towns and had seen the results of unwise development on town services. Reference was made of the 1965 Master Plan by Harvey Blanchette, a new member of the Affordable Housing Committee. He noted "We still don't have water and sewer on Brandt Island Road, but we pay our share of taxes." The Chairman said the Growth Committee hopes to build on the old Master Plan and educate the people on our work.

Chairman Kortright urged the Brandt Island Association or interested citizens to follow this project and to keep abreast of happenings. He noted the next meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, February 18th, at Village Court. All are welcome to attend.

Marion Selectmen's Meeting

JANUARY 26, 1988-by EUNICE MANDUCA
A COMMUNITY SERVICE OF THE LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Representative John Bradford met with Selectmen to inform them of possible action to lessen the problem caused by excessive salting of Route 195 in the area of the Mattapoisett Valley aquifer. Mr. Tierney, State Commissioner of Public Works, has requested additional information and documentation of the contamination of ground water by highway salting. Marion is not on Mr. Tierney's list of towns which have elevated levels of sodium or chlorides. Selectman Ted Pratt will get additional figures to Mr. Bradford who will pursue the matter. When questioned about his negative vote on the Land Bank bill, Mr. Bradford stated that he approved of the concept but did not agree with the method of funding. He also stated that twenty million dollars would be available for towns throughout the state to purchase land for conservation. The state will decide who gets the funds. The subject of a home rule petition was discussed and Mr. Bradford will forward a copy of a bill being sponsored by Mr. Flood.

men to request an easement on town land to give him access to his property. Mr. Nunes wishes to convert a workshop to a home and his former access has been cut off. The Selectmen will view the area and get back to Mr. Nunes.

The Marine Resources Commission and Harbormaster George Jennings presented the Selectmen with homework. The Selectmen will study the information concerning the duties of the Assistant Harbormaster and meet with Mr. Jennings next week.

The M.R.C. voted a $25.00 fee for tie-ups.

Selectman Richard Lagreze announced a date for a meeting with Lt. Governor Evelyn Murphy for 'Blueprint 2000'. This will be a meeting of the entire Commonwealth for long-range planning for communities and funding for the same. The date will be February 18, 1988.

Ray Pickles, Executive Secretary, will continue discussions with officials of Tabor Academy concerning reconstruction of Front Street and alternative plans for sidewalks. Because some water services are over 60 years old and could fail after the road is rebuilt, $16,000 will be budgeted for the replacement of all water services from Route 6 to South Street.

reason for revocation and stated that the revocation amounted to a 'taking' of Lot #3 on Olde Knoll Road, Marion. Selectman Pratt, as Chairman of the Board of Health, replied that the permit had been granted in error because it was later seen that the original engineering plans showed filled wetlands in order to meet set-back requirements. Mr. Fleming alleged that the permit has been illegally revoked. Selectman Pratt stated that the Board of Health had sent a notice to Zora Enterprises, Inc., explaining changes in the original plan as submitted would be necessary to bring the system in compliance with Title 5 regulations. At no time did the Board of Health say that the lot could not be built upon. Attorney Fleming established the fact that Mr. Tom Fantozzi was employed by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) as a Technical Assistant and was available to local groups as an advisor. With a background of 20 years as Registered Sanitarian, Mr. Fantozzi pointed out the deficiencies which made the original plans unacceptable to meet Title

He explained that filling wetlands in order to meet setback requirements is not acceptable to the D.E.Q.E., the Conservation Commission or the Board of Health. A variance might be in order but must be applied for, not assumed. Mr. Fantozzi also stated that Title 5 regulations require that perc tests be done at time of maximum highwater table; that would be February, March, April or May.

Engineers for Zora Enterprises, Inc. presented a new plan for discussion but were told by Chairman Pratt that the present hearing had been called to discuss the revocation of permit #1016. The new plan was accepted and will be checked by the Conservation Commission for wetlands delineation before the Board of Health can act on it.

TOURING CLUB

Our Touring Club announces two new trips: a Washington, D.C. 4-day trip by bus in April, and in November a 14-day (12 nights) San Francisco, Three Island Hawaiian deluxe trip.

At this time we are only going to cover the Washington trip, as that is the more immediate one, but those of you who are interested had better start saving your "mad" money for the Hawaiian trip, as November is not too far along. We will tell you the details in a future issue of Presto. Those of you who would like immediate details of the trip may get a copy of the brochure from our C.O.A. in the Town Hall.

Washington trip: You will arrive in the late afternoon of the first day at your hotel in the Washington/Arlington area, where dinner will be served. The second day, after breakfast (included) your Washington guide will take you on a tour of Washington today: through the east side doors of the White House to the Blue Room, the Gold Room, and other sections of "The President's House", the Supreme Court, Library of Congress, then on to the Capitol to see the Senate and

League of Women Voters held a second forum in their "Know your Schools" series, jointly with Rochester Memorial's PTA. The feaured speakers were Mr. Charles Elofson, Principal of Memorial School, Rochester; Mr. Robert Gardner, Principal of ORRJHS; Mrs. Susan Zartman, Guidance Counselor at ORRSHS. The small gathering of people who braved the night's bitter cold engaged in a lively discussion regarding home/school communications and parental involvement.

Mr. Elofson spoke of parents being "the backbone of education". He urged parents to read to their children, share time with them and reiterated the importance of instilling in them a respect for learning so that learning can be fun and rewarding. Going beyond these essentials, he suggested parental involvement within the schools - in the classroom, library, PTA and school conferences for example. School conferences not only inform parents but also give teachers insights for better educational success.

Sue Zartman discussed the nature of the Junior and Senior High School students and the difficulties of parental involvement at these stages. She spoke of the natural

The Junior High School outreaches to the home and community in a multitude of ways said Mr. Robert Gardner. He began with the Junior High sponsored visitations in the spring. All tri-town sixth grade students are given an opportunity to see first hand what a day at the Junior High is like. Mr. Gardner also sponsors four coffees with the principal yearly asking for parental input and presenting a number of interesting topics of great importance to parents and students alike. Regular editions of "Highlights", a Junior High newsletter, is printed to further inform the home of school happenings. Parents should look forward to seeing this. "Project Awe" is a terrific program which has the student body interacting with the elderly in local nursing homes. The program is in great need of adults to drive the various students to nursing homes in order for the program to continue. Another exciting way in which Mr. Gardner is trying to mesh the community and the school is through a new group called VIP. It is hoped that this organization will combine all the best efforts of the many people already involved at the Junior High School. There is an open invitation for anyone interested in happenings at the Junior High School level to get involved right now. Last mentioned was a communications system which allows you to call into the school's telephone lines, 758-4928, from approximately 4:00 p.m. to 7:00 a.m. weekdays and any time weekends. Here you will get the very latest about upcoming events, curriculum happenings and needs for volunteer help.

What's happening at the Senior High School? Dr. Donald Murphy talked about a number of things. First, he stressed the academic excellence which ORR has always strived to maintain and achieve. He also talked about exciting areas of the curriculum where students are getting the best that education has to offer. Much discussion centered on ways in which parents can actually help at this level. Again, there are a multitude of groups which already are in existence. There is an effort at the Senior High level to begin coordinating these efforts to benefit the entire school. It is being done by a group of enthusiastic members of the community through SCORR. It has two focuses at this time; first, it is working with the school to provide a much needed substance abuse program. It will be informative and offer assistance to all. Its first phase involves the peer counseling program offered by the Rev. Raymond Patch of Mattapoisett. Also, there will be a series of exciting programs over the next few months - look for them in your papers and on cable television. The second focus of SCORR will be "MAYFAIR". This exciting event will be held in early May. Its purpose is to give all the groups and areas of the curriculum an opportunity to illustrate what is happening at the High School. It will be done in an educational and entertaining format - a real gala event for all.

Many efforts are being made by these administrators to inform and involve the community in their schools. Your input is always welcome.

Old Colony

STORYTELLER SUSAN KLEIN VISITS O.C.

Last month students from Old Colony Regional Vocational Technical High School were visited by storyteller Susan Klein. Ms. Klein thrilled an audience of one hundred and twenty eleventh graders for one hour with her stories from various cultures. Students were taken on an imaginary journey from the rolling plain states to the deep South of America. Susan Klein is a native of Martha's Vineyard and holds a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Theatre Arts in Education and a Master's in Education from Lesley College.

The assembly was funded through Old Colony's School Improvement Council.

EDGAR ALLAN POE VISITS O.C.

A recent visit by Edgar Allan Poe to Old Colony Regional Vocational Technical High School was witnessed by all sophomore and senior classes. Mel Harold, a Boston actor, mesmerized the students with his brilliant portrayal of Edgar Allan Poe.

studying the writings of Edgar Allan Poe all week when a surprise visit by Poe himself made the literature come alive. Mr. Harold recited some of Poe's most famous macabre tales such as "The Tell-Tale Heart", "Annabel Lee", "The Bells", and "The Raven". Mr. Harold also wove selected anecdotes throughout the program. Mr. Harold's show carried an anti-drug message, although not intended. He told his audience that Edgar Allan Poe's life was ended by the taking of drugs and that he had only taken them two times. He related the tragedy to the recent death of basketball star Len Bias.

Students and teachers alike were impressed with Mr. Harold's stunning performance.
